Show

Low-volume tastings show is an attraction, during which the participants are familiarized with the world of noble liquors mainly in a nice atmosphere and with the use of numerous games and contests. Here, integrating animation and informalizing games are more important than the tasting itself.

During the meeting, the guests participate in three competitions. The first one is Multimedia Tournament. We show short fragments of feature and specialist films about alcohol. After each fragment, the guests are asked questions about the details. The next game is Recognizing Aromas. With the use of smell, the participants try to match aromas closed in bottles to their names written down on paper. This way they train aromatic memory, which simplifies classification of known before, but not defined aromas. A very educational game for liquor lovers and connoisseurs. The last activity is manual riddle including freeing a bottle, which is tightly closed in a puzzle. With the use of two bricks and three ropes the guests have to untie the puzzle. On your request, we can present more detailed descriptions of suggested contests in order to emphasise how attractive they are.

The show will include the tasting of one single malt whisky or specially selected wine, depending on the preferences of the Client. The participants will get familiarized with the most interesting aspects of the world of spirits, such as professional tasting, noble liquors and regions of origin. The tasting means sharing impressions, a discussion with the presenter and answers to all questions and doubts.

The characteristic of this meeting is a minimal amount of alcohol, thanks to which this attraction is perfect as a supplement or a break in day meetings and does not have to be treated only as an evening animation.

It is possible to change the contests, which are suggested here. Optionally, we can also increase the number of liquors served at the tasting.
